

Group Supplemental Short Term Disability Insurance

Protect your income if you're out on leave.

Your employer provides you with a basic level of disability insurance. Will that be enough for you? Think about your ongoing expenses and how much income you'll need to replace. You have the option to enroll in an enhanced level of disability insurance.

Disability insurance may help protect your income if you're unable to work.

Short Term Disability insurance may help pay benefits if you become disabled and can't work for a short amount of time.

This coverage replaces a portion of your income when you can't work because of a qualifying disability, including injury, physical disease, pregnancy or mental disorder.

You may receive weekly benefits that replace a specified percentage of your eligible earnings. Benefits begin after the benefit waiting period.

You may also receive help returning to work if you need accommodations.

Even if you're healthy now, it's important to protect yourself and the people who count on your income. If you can't work, Short Term Disability insurance may help you pay for ongoing expenses, such as:

Housing Costs

Groceries

Car Insurance

Child Care

Additional Features

Return to Work Incentive	Your disability benefit will not be reduced by any work earnings you receive until the combined amount of the benefit and your earnings exceeds 100% of your pre-disability earnings.
Help With Returning To Work	If a worksite modification would enable you to return to work, we can help your employer make approved modifications by covering some or all of the cost.

How Much Your Coverage Costs

Your basic policy is paid for by your employer and costs you nothing. If you choose to purchase supplemental coverage, you'll have access to competitive group rates that may be more affordable than those available through individual insurance. You'll also have the convenience of having your premium deducted directly from your paycheck.

If you elect the Supplemental Short Term Disability coverage, your monthly rate is 0.285% of monthly earnings.

Use this formula to estimate your monthly premium payment for your supplemental coverage:

	x	0.00285	=
Enter your monthly earnings (cannot be more than $18,000).		This is your rate applied to your monthly earnings.		This amount is an estimate of how much you'd pay each month.

As you consider Short Term Disability insurance, think about the expenses you would need to cover if you became disabled:

- Housing costs
- Medical bills
- Utilities
- Car insurance
- Groceries
- Child care costs

Your employer provides you with a basic level of disability insurance. Will that be enough for you? If not, you have the option to enroll in an enhanced level of disability insurance.

Important Details

Here's where you'll find the details about the plan.

Eligibility Requirements

To be eligible for coverage, you must be:

- You are a member if you are a citizen or resident of the United States or Canada
- An employee with less than 3 consecutive years of employment for a covered employer who is employed half time or greater, on at least a nine-month appointment period, and actively at work for an employer that subsidizes coverage under the group policy only prior to the completion of 3 consecutive years of employment for a covered employer
- A pharmacy or chaplain resident of the employer who is actively at work for the employer

Medical residents, temporary or seasonal employees, full-time members of the armed forces of any country, leased employees, and independent contractors are not eligible.

Employee Coverage Effective Date

To become insured, you must:

- Meet the eligibility requirements listed above
- Apply for coverage and agree to pay premium
- Be actively at work (able to perform all normal duties of your job) on the day before the scheduled effective date of insurance

If you are not actively at work on the day before the scheduled effective date of insurance, your insurance will not become effective until the day after you complete one full day of active work as an eligible employee.

Definition of Disability

You will be considered disabled if, as a result of physical disease, injury, pregnancy or mental disorder:

- You are unable to perform with reasonable continuity the material duties of your own job
- You suffer a loss of at least 20% in your predisability earnings when working in your own job

You are not considered disabled merely because your right to perform your own occupation is restricted, including a restriction or loss of license.

Exclusions

Subject to state variations, you are not covered for a disability caused or contributed to by any of the following:

- Your committing or attempting to commit an assault or felony, or your active participation in a violent disorder or riot
- An intentionally self-inflicted injury, while sane or insane
- War or any act of war (declared or undeclared, and any substantial armed conflict between organized forces of a military nature)
- The loss of your professional or occupational license or certification
- An activity arising out of or in the course of any employment for wage or profit

Limitations

Short Term Disability benefits are not payable for any period when you are:

- Not under the ongoing care of a physician in the appropriate specialty, as determined by The Standard
- Not participating in good faith in a plan, program or course of medical treatment or vocational training or education approved by The Standard, unless your disability prevents you from participating
- Confined for any reason in a penal or correctional institution
- Able to work and earn at least 20% of your predisability earnings in your own occupation, but you elect not to
- Receiving sick-leave pay, annual or personal leave pay, severance pay or other salary continuation (including donated amounts) from your employer
- Eligible to receive benefits for your disability under a workers' compensation law or similar law

When Your Benefits End

Your Short Term Disability benefits end automatically on the date any of the following occur:

- You are no longer disabled
- Your maximum benefit period ends
- Long term disability benefits become payable to you under a long term disability plan
- Benefits become payable under any other disability insurance plan under which you become insured through employment during a period of temporary recovery
- You fail to provide proof of continued disability and entitlement to benefits
- You pass away

Deductible Income

Your benefits will be reduced if you have deductible income, which is income you receive or are eligible to receive while receiving Short Term Disability benefits. Deductible income includes:

- Any amount you receive or are eligible to receive under your employer's paid parental leave program
- Amounts under unemployment compensation law
- Amounts because of your disability from any other group insurance
- Amounts under any state disability income benefit law or similar law
- Earnings from work activity while you are disabled, plus the earnings you could receive if you work as much as your disability allows
- Earnings or compensation included in your predisability earnings which you receive or are eligible to receive while Short Term Disability benefits are payable
- Amounts due from or on behalf of a third party because of your disability, whether by judgment, settlement or other method
- Any amount you receive by compromise, settlement or other method as a result of a claim for any of the above

When Your Insurance Ends

Your insurance ends automatically when any of the following occur:

- The date the last period ends for which a premium was paid
- The date your employment terminates
- The date the group policy (or your employer's coverage under the group policy) terminates
- The date you cease to meet the eligibility requirements (insurance may continue for limited periods under certain circumstances)
- The date your employer ends participation in the group policy

Group Insurance Certificate

If coverage becomes effective and you become insured, contact your human resources representative for a group insurance certificate containing a detailed description of the insurance coverage including the definitions, exclusions, limitations, reductions and terminating events. The controlling provisions will be in the group policy. The information presented in this summary does not modify the group policy, certificate or the insurance coverage in any way.
